

Pet Care

Offer to take care of your friends' and neighbors' pets while they are away on vacation or at work.

It's a great way to create an ongoing source of income for your trip.

Prep & complete

Decide what kind of pet care you can offer. Examples include hosting the pet at your house, watching the pet at the owner's home, and/or dog walking.

Advertise! Reach out to neighbors, family, and friends to let them know what services you are offering. Ask your parents to spread the word at work. Share your service options on social media. Be sure any fliers include important information such as what services you offer and how much they cost.

Tips & tricks

Holidays and school breaks are a perfect time to get business for your pet-care service because people will be on vacation, and you'll have extra time to spend with their pets!

Make a list of all the people you know who have pets and contact them to offer your services. Send out an email, post on social media, or reach out to a community you belong to by posting a flier. Let people know to keep you in mind the next time they are out of town and need someone to watch their pet.
